CIT has become a major platform for researchers and industry practitioners from different fields of computer and information technology. Each year, CIT attendees appreciate and benefit from multidisciplinary exchanges in computer and information technology. In previous years, CIT has attracted many high quality research papers spanning over the various aspects of information technology, computing science and computer engineering. These papers highlight foundational work that strives to push beyond limits of existing computer technologies, including experimental efforts, innovative systems, and investigations that identify weaknesses in existing IT services. CIT'14 will be held on Sept. 11th-13th, 2014 in Xi'an, Shaanxi, China. The goal of CIT'14 is to provide a forum for scientists, engineers and researchers to discuss and exchange novel ideas, results, experiences and work-in-process on all aspects of computer and information technology.

The CIT 2014 topics include but are not limited to the following, and the detail information for each track could be found in CIT2014 website (<http://meeting.xidian.edu.cn/conference/cit2014/cfp.html>)
